National foreword

This British Standard is the UK implementation of EN 1854:2010.

The UK participation in its preparation was entrusted to Technical Committee GSE/22, Safety and control devices for gas and oil burners and gas burning appliances.

A list of organizations represented on this committee can be obtained on request to its secretary.

EN 1854:2010 is a candidate “harmonized” European Standard and fully takes into account the requirements of the European Commission mandate M/BC/CEN/89/6, Appliances burning gaseous fuels, given under the New Approach Directive (2009/142/EC), and is intended to lead to CE marking. The date of applicability of EN 1854:2010 as a “harmonized” European Standard, i.e. the date after which this standard may be used for CE marking purposes, is subject to an announcement in the Official Journal of the European Communities.

EN 1854:2010 is the subject of transitional arrangements agreed under the European Commission mandate. The Member States have agreed a nominal transition period for the co-existence of EN 1854:2010 and their corresponding national standard(s). It is intended that this period will comprise a nominal nine month period during which any required changes to national regulations are to be made, followed by a further nominal twelve month period for the implementation of CE marking. At the end of this co-existence period, the national standard(s) will be withdrawn. In the UK, the corresponding national standard is:

— BS EN 1854:2006, Pressure sensing devices for gas burners and gas burning appliances; and based on this nominal transition period of twenty-one months, BS EN 1854:2006 will be withdrawn on 31 May, 2012.

NOTE: This date is approximate. Users of this standard should contact BSI Customer Services for confirmation of withdrawal.

This publication does not purport to include all the necessary provisions of a contract. Users are responsible for its correct application.
