

Implementation of ISO 5725-2:1994

Accuracy (trueness and precision) of measurement methods and results —

Part 2: Basic method for the determination of repeatability and reproducibility of a standard measurement method

ICS 03.120.30

Committees responsible for this British Standard

The preparation of this British Standard was entrusted to Technical Committee QMS/16, Precision of test methods, upon which the following bodies were represented:

- British Gas plc
- Chemical Industries Association
- Consumers' Association
- Department of Trade and Industry (Laboratory of the Government Chemist)
- Department of Trade and Industry (National Physical Laboratory)
- Institute of Quality Assurance
- Ministry of Agriculture, Fisheries and Food
- Ministry of Defence
- Royal Society of Chemistry
- University of London

This British Standard, having been prepared under the direction of the Management Systems Sector Board, was published under the authority of the Standards Board and comes into effect on 15 April 1995

© BSI 12 November 2002

The following BSI references relate to the work on this standard:
Committee reference QMS/16
Draft for comment 90/97779 DC

ISBN 0 580 24033 9

Amendments issued since publication

| Amd. No.                                | Date             | Comments                                       |
|-----------------------------------------|------------------|------------------------------------------------|
| 13997TechnicalCorrigendum No. 1 | 12 November 2002 | Addition of note to 7.3.4.3 and Table 5 |
|                                         |                  |                                                |
|                                         |                  |                                                |
|                                         |                  |                                                |